Team Memo #82

Dear Competitors,

Going further, I would like for each of you to start sending me blog-style writings from your weekends or tests that are no less than 300 words. It can be anything from a weekend summary, to an individual race summary or just something interesting that happened to you in the paddock. Make sure to include a title. If you have already been doing this on your own websites and would like to send me links to those, that works too. I will provide photos for your blogs unless you have photos that you would like to include. Appropriate blogs, will be posted under the Competitor Tab in Driver Blogs. This is not mandatory, just another layer of fan connection and exposure for you. Please, let me know if you have any questions.

Thank you,

Amy
