Protestor: Paul Brown, Chief Steward

Protestee: Chris Perry, Car # 38 FM

Vehicle underweight. Weighed in both directions 795 w/ 800 minimum.

Date/time: 9/3/2019 10:25 AM

Protest Decision: Upheld

The protest committee has decided an illegal car should not finish ahead of a legal car. Therefore, we are adding a 7 cone penalty to each run for 38 FM for day 1. This will put the driver behind the otherwise last place car.

An intent to appeal was not filed.

Protestor: Thomas Thompson, Car # 199 STH, competitor

Protestee: Chris Thorpe, Car # 124 (24) STH

Violation of Solo® Rules section 14.10.K.2

124 STH has an aftermarket front diff installed. This is undisputed. I believe this is illegal because the Haldex that controls the front/rear balance on the AWD system should be considered a center LSD. A brief internet search finds the Haldex described as a limited slip coupler. AWD cars in STH are allowed on 1 limited slip "diff."

Date/time : 9/6/2019 8:29 AM

Protest decision: Upheld

The protest committee confirms the car has an aftermarket front differential. The committee has determined the stock Haldex unit is performing the function of a type of limited slip differential between the front and rear (center) The times for 24 STH and 124 STH are to be disqualified. of the vehicle.

An intent to appeal was filed 9/6/2019 10:54 AM and accepted by the Chief Steward.

NATIONAL APPEALS COMMITTEE REPORT

FINDINGS OF THE PROTEST COMMITTEE - At the Solo® National Championships on 9/6/19 Thomas Thompson protested #124 Chris Thorpe's 2012 VW Golf R for violating section 14.10.K.2 of the Solo® Rule Book. Rule section 14.10.K.2 states that "Only standard (as defined in Section 12) limited slip differentials (LSD) are allowed on AWD vehicles. For AWD vehicles that did not come with any type of limited slip differential (including center differential or transfer case), a single aftermarket mechanical LSD may be added." Mr. Thompson wrote that the OEM Haldex coupler controlled the front/rear balance of the AWD system and should be considered a center LSD. Mr. Thorpe confirmed that the car had an aftermarket front limited slip differential. The PC agreed with the protestor and disqualified the times for #24/124. Mr. Thorpe is appealing that decision.

2019 SCCA® Solo® National Championships Protest Results

DATE OF THE APPEAL - The Solo® National Appeals Committee (NAC), Jeff Cashmore, Steve Hudson and Doug Wille, met on September 18, 2019, to review the evidence, hear testimony, and render a decision on the appeal.

DOCUMENTS AND OTHER EVIDENCE RECEIVED AND REVIEWED - Letter of appeal from Mr. Thorpe.

FINDINGS - Standard refers to the "Standard part" definition in Section 12, there is no limited slip differential definition. While the Haldex unit is an electro-hydraulic limited-slip coupler or clutch it performs the same function as a center LSD.

DECISION - The NAC upholds the PC decision in its entirety. Mr. Thorpe's appeal is well founded, and his appeal fee, less the administrative amount retained by SCCA, will be returned. It also recommends that the STAC revisit the rule to add more clarity. Perhaps, "(including center differential, transfer case, electro-hydraulic limited-slip coupler or clutch (Haldex type unit))".
